

New York City Aid Plan Revealed By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess, the top item on its agenda will be President Ford's proposal that the United States loan New York City the money it needs to avoid default.

Ford, backing away from his hard-line stand against offering any federal assistance to the city, said at his Wednesday night news conference that he would submit legislation to Congress which would provide up to $2.3 billion in federal loans to the city. The year-to-year loan authority would expire in 1978.

Lawmakers indicated Ford's plan would receive immediate consideration when Congress reconvenes Monday and there were numerous predictions it would win quick approval. But some cited continued opposition to any aid to the city, mostly from Republicans and conservative Democrats.

Ford said self-help steps taken by New York City and the state to increase revenues and cut expenses led him to reconsider his stand. He said the city "has bailed itself out."

Ford's proposal would require the city to pay back borrowed money each year with interest. The interest rate would be at least the going rate at which the federal government itself borrows money — now about 7 per cent — but the treasury secretary would be empowered to assess an additional 1 per cent interest on top of that.

Under Ford's plan, the federal government will have first call on all city funds to assure repayment of the loans.

Both city and state officials said New Yorkers still face "painful burdens" before fiscal problems can be resolved.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame said New York's problems are far from being resolved, but he called Ford's proposal "a crucial turning point" in the city's year-long fiscal crisis.

Gov. Hugh Carey said that "talk of collapse and chaos should now disappear. In its place, we shall talk of the work of rebuilding and restoring confidence in New York City."

Even with federal aid, New York officials said the city still must end a $725 million operating deficit in its budget by June 30, 1978. Officials indicated this will mean further employee layoffs and cutbacks in city services. New York state also will have to

Ford To Meet With Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teng Hsiao-Ping, who may succeed Mao Tse-Tung, reportedly is strengthening his power base; and U.S. intelligence officials say President Ford should pay close attention to him during his trip next week to the People's Republic of China.

Teng is considered by many analysts to be the most powerful leader in China, second only to Mao.

Now vice premier and nominally subordinate to ailing Premier Chou en-Lai, Teng has been slowly building his power base.

For example, U.S. intelligence sources say Teng recently was instrumental in moving Chen Hsi-Lien, the Peking region military commander and a Teng ally, into position to become defense minister.

Also, Teng has been shifting certain provincial leaders around to prevent them from establishing their own power bases, analysts say.

The current reading by U.S. intelligence is that Teng at the least will become the top figure in a collective leadership after the deaths of Mao, 82, and Chou, 77.

However, the analysts believe Teng is likely to emerge as dominant if he is able to consolidate his power base enough to repel challenges, principally from the radical wing of the Chinese Communist party.

Based on his past performance, it appears that Teng would continue China's estrangement from the Soviet Union.

In the early years of the Chinese-Soviet split, Teng publicly accused the Soviet Union of weakening the international communist movement. One U.S. intelligence appraisal of Teng said that by the early 1960s he "had earned the reputation of being a man able to stand up to and infuriate the Soviet leaders."

Soviet split, Teng publicly accused the Soviet Union of weakening the international communist movement. One U.S. intelligence appraisal of Teng said that by the early 1960s he "had earned the reputation of being a man able to stand up to and infuriate the Soviet leaders."

Teng was in disgrace for about six years after falling victim to the "cultural revolution" engineered by the radicals. But he was restored to power near the top in 1973.

Last year, Teng became the first high-level Chinese Communist official to visit the United States when he led his country's delegation to a special United Nations General Assembly meeting on world resources.

At 71, Teng is hardly a "young Turk." He was one of the early activists in the Chinese Communist party about 50 years ago and joined Mao in the "long march" of the 1930s.

Aussies In Election Drive

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — From the streets of Sydney to the lonely outback, Australia is going through the most bitter and costly election campaign in its 74 years as a nation.

With each major party claiming in all seriousness that dictatorship and economic ruin will ensue unless it is elected, feelings are running high and tempers short as the country approaches election day Dec. 13.

Angry taxi drivers in Sydney have pressed their two-way radios into the political battle, shouting "Rubbish!" and "You mug!" at anyone in the next cab who doesn't like their party. Party supporters are being urged to buy "bronze loyalty plaques"—at $190 apiece — with the image of their leader.

The Labor party says it expects to spend the equivalent in Australian currency of $952,000 and sources in the conservative Liberal party say they figure their expenses will run about $1.3 million for the three-week campaign. Both say this is the largest they have ever spent on an election.

Individual candidates for the House of Representatives and the Senate are limited to $630 each but this law is winked at by practically everyone.

The nation's seven million voters are rallying behind either Labor party leader Gough Whitlam, who was fired as prime minister Nov. 11 by Queen Elizabeth's representative, or behind the caretaker government under Malcolm Fraser's Liberal party.

There are the usual buttons and bumper stickers — including "I'm a Liberal lover" for Fraser's supporters and the sarcastic "Fraser, you're really beginning to scare me" from the Labor camp. Advertising agencies for both parties are hard at work.

Bumper stickers brought grief to a group of Labor supporters in Canberra, the federal capital. Liberal supporters, who often accuse Labor people of Socialist leanings, poured red paint over the stickers and the rest of the cars.

Labor men, who accuse the Liberals of being in the palm of big business and foreign monopolies, got in their licks by kicking in the sides of a luxury automobile in Sydney.

Fraser's Liberals are stressing Australia's 12.6 per cent inflation rate and the 5 per cent jobless rate — twice last year's — in the 6-million-member work force. They claim the Labor government could have shielded Australia far better from worldwide recession.

Whitlam maintains his government did the best it could under the economic conditions, and is directing most of his effort at claiming Fraser's forces unseated him in a "bloodless coup d'etat" that defied all Australian political conventions.

Governor General Sir John Kerr, the queen's representative, dismissed Whitlam after Fraser's coalition, which controls the Senate, blocked Whitlam's 1975-76 budget for 28 days and the government began running out of money.

Whitlam claims the House of Representatives, which the Laborites controlled, has the exclusive right to make and unmake governments.

Rains Help Cool Los Angeles Fires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The rains were the biggest fire fighter we had," said one weary fireman as two brush fires that had raged in the hills north and east of Los Angeles were contained.

In five days, the fires charred 100 square miles of land, caused $17.5 million damage, drove 5,600 persons from their homes and created the danger of flooding from winter storms.

Mop-up operations continued today, but all but a few of the thousands of fire fighters who struggled with the blazes in the San Gabriel Mountains had gone home.

Officials declared the fires contained Thursday night after a cold front swept a quarter inch of rain into the area.

"We had planned three hard days for mop-up operations, but the rains did it in 20 minutes," said Dave Waite, a U.S. Forest Service official. "The rains were the biggest fire fighter we had."

The fires, one in the northern foothills above Los Angeles, the other 20 miles to the east above the San Gabriel Valley, burned mostly through timber lands and brush-covered hills. They blanketed the city with smoke by day, and tinted the night sky with an orange glow.

Watershed damage to the now-denuded hillsides was pegged at about $17 million. The 40-odd structures damaged or destroyed by the fires added another $500,000 to the total bill.

Forest Service costs in fighting the blazes were estimated at more than $1.5 million. Costs incurred by the Los Angeles city and county fire departments have not been determined.

With the fires contained, officials looked to the approaching winter storm season. Heavy rains frequently have brought floods and mudslides after brush fires in Southern California.

The Forest Service said seeding operations would begin Sunday, when eight pounds of fastgerminating rye grass would be sowed over each acre. But there were fears the grass would not grow fast enough.

"It's a matter of timing," said Bob Reese, watershed and resources management officer in the Angeles National Forest. "It depends on how the rains come, whether we get gentle rain so the seeds can germinate. If we have a gully washer we're going to have problems."

Lancaster Man Guilty In Fatal Wreck

Eighteen-year-old Paul L. Dufner of Lancaster was found guilty of vehicular homicide in the Sept. 25 death of Edward A. Kehoe, 24, Circleville.

Appearing Tuesday before Lancaster Municipal Court Judge Joseph R. Ralston, Dufner was fined $500 and costs. He was also sentenced to six months in jail. The jail sentence was suspended with Dufner placed on two years good behavior and his driving rights suspended for 90 days.

The two-car accident occurred on U.S. 22 at Delmont Road in Fairfield County, claiming the life of the Circleville Marine Recruiter.

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK — Circleville has been decked in all its Christmas glory, as city service workers began hanging Retail Merchant-purchased trees from utility poles in the downtown area even before Thanksgiving had passed. Anyway, the trees were a nice touch to accent the arrival of Santa Claus Friday afternoon.

Security Council Studies Mideast Force Extension

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council meets today in a closed-door session to discuss renewal of the mandate for the U.N. peacekeeping force on the Golan Heights. Semi-official Damascus sources say Syrian President Hafez Assad has agreed to an extension.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, returning from a six-day tour of the Middle East, met in London Thursday with Jordan's King Hussein. After the meeting Waldheim told reporters he was hopeful the Security Council would renew the mandate before it expires Sunday.

"The decision is now with them," Waldheim said.

He said he had a "frank and constructive discussion" with Assad, but refused to say whether the Syrian president had made a commitment to renewing the mandate.

The Damascus sources said Assad agreed Wednesday to a six-month extension in return for Waldheim's personal promise to work for early resumption of Geneva peace talks among Israel, Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

Israel has agreed to a six-month extension without conditions, but has refused any concessions to Syria.

Diplomatic sources here said Syria had agreed in principle to the extension but wanted the 15-nation Security Council to invite a representative of the Palestine Liberation Organization to address the body on political rights of Palestinians.

Analysts in Jerusalem have accused Syria of brinkmanship to squeeze political concessions out of Israel.

The 1,300 U.N. troops known as the U.N. Disengagement Observation Force (UNDOF) maintained separation of Israeli and Syrian forces on the heights under an agreement worked out 17 months ago by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to end the Golan Heights war.

Israeli experts don't think the peacekeepers would have to move out immediately if the mandate were not renewed, but without it the agreement would lose much of its effect and observers feel it could then fall apart and lead to a resumption of fighting.

The U.N. undersecretary general for administration and management, George F. Davidson, said if the mandate has not been extended by Sunday midnight, Waldheim would not have legal authority "even to supply breakfast rations on the Golan Heights."

In other Mideast developments:

—Israeli soldiers moved into Lebanon before dawn Thursday to search for Arab guerrillas near the village of Kfar Kela and came under light arms fire, according to the Tel Aviv command. Lebanese police said the commander of a local militia was killed. The Israelis said they took a prisoner back into Israel for questioning.

—Scattered clashes between Moslems and Christians in Beirut left 10 dead as the street warfare tapered.

—Egypt suspended talks on its $6 billion debt to Moscow until it responds to an Egyptian proposal to pay it back over a 10-year period, according to Trade Minister Zakariya Tewfik.

Coretta King Fromme Case Said 'Trying' For Jurors

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Coretta King, widow of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King, has called for a reopening of the investigation of her husband's assassination, which she says was apparently the result of a government conspiracy.

"I don't have the facts but at this stage I say it appears there was a conspiracy in the death of my husband," she said in an interview Thursday.

Mrs. King, who is in Nairobi on a three-nation African tour, commented on the admission by the FBI that it undertook a harassment campaign to discredit King, and a subsequent order by Atty. Gen. Edward Levi of a review of the agency's investigation of King's shooting death in 1968. James Earl Ray pleaded guilty to the killing in Memphis, Tenn., and was sentenced to 99 years in prison.

"The way he was documented and followed around by Hoover and the CIA when he was abroad, it would have to have been attached to the forces of our government that felt he was a threat to the system as it existed," Mrs. King said, referring to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and the late FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover.

"I think there are grounds for reopening the case," she said. "I have always felt there was more to it than came out. I also felt somehow in the long run of history it would be revealed — just what did happen."

She said she felt recent investigations into the FBI and CIA provided new evidence.

"I feel it requires further investigation into the death of my husband, as well as the assassinations of others from the Kennedys on."

In Washington, meanwhile, former King aide Ralph David Abernathy and comedian Dick Gregory led 30 other persons in a brief march in front of the White House to demand President Ford order a new "independent investigation" of the slaying.

Slate Services For Lost Sailors

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A memorial service for the victims of the ill-fated ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald is planned for Sunday morning on Lake Superior's Whitefish Bay by local officials from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and neighboring Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Plans call for Canadian and U.S. Coast Guard vessels to lay wreaths in the bay in memory of the 29 crewmen lost when the giant ore carrier went down in a storm the evening of Nov. 10.

Churches in the two Soos plan to hold a moment of silence at services Sunday, and all flags in the communities will fly at half staff.

The Fitzgerald sank in some 500 feet of water about 55 miles northwest of the Soo.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, confronted with profit taking and tax selling pressures, was able to muster only a mixed showing today in response to the resolution of New York City's financial plight.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down .55 at 858 even. But gainers held on to a 3-2 lead over losers in the over-all count on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said it appeared traders who had bought earlier on the expectation that President Ford would switch to a position in favor of federal help for New York City were cashing in profits following the official word from the President on the eve of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Pan American World Airways was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 1/4 at 5 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index edged up .01 to 85.72. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .28 to 85.72.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 6.86 million shares in the first two hours, against 9.37 million in the comparable period Wednesday.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

CIRCLEVILLE

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The trial of Charles Manson follower Lynette Fromme was a "trying" time for the jurors who convicted her of attempting to assassinate President Ford, the judge says.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride said the jury, which had been sequestered during the three-week trial, sent him word that they wanted no public exposure — no press interviews, no photographs.

"This has been a trying experience for them, to say the least, and they do not want to be subjected to any more publicity than they have already," he explained.

On Thanksgiving Day, members of the jury could not be reached at their homes for comment on the deliberations preceding their verdict Wednesday.

After the verdict, Sandra Good, a friend of Miss Fromme, predicted violence to those who oppose the cult of Manson, who is serving a life sentence in connection with the 1969 slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

"Your children will rise up and kill you," Miss Good told reporters. "Your own children saw what you've done. Now you've judged yourself again. You all know money is your god."

During the jury's 19 1/2 hours of deliberations, the panel was reported deadlocked at one point, but they offered no hint of their initial voting or how they reached the guilty verdict that could send Miss Fromme to prison on a life sentence.

Both the defense and prosecution agreed that Miss Fromme was seeking publicity for Manson when she pointed a .45-caliber pistol at Ford here Sept. 5 in a park outside the state Capitol.

But the prosecution argued — successfully — that she intended to fire the gun, while the defense claimed she was just threatening the President and called for a verdict of assault, which carries a maximum 10-year sentence. Authorities said the automatic pistol's chamber was empty, but there were four bullets in the magazine.

The trial included the first oral testimony at a criminal trial by a president in office. President Ford gave videotape testimony that he saw little more than a hand point a gun from a crowd.

Miss Fromme told the judge in court that she did not try to kill Ford and her only purpose was to get a new trial for Manson.

The diminutive 27-year-old red-haired defendant was the first person convicted under a 1965 federal law which provides a maximum of life imprisonment for presidential assassination attempts. Sentencing is set for Dec. 17.

Celeste Has Thankless Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Being lieutenant governor of Ohio remains mostly a thankless and unproductive task, but the present holder of the office believes it presents an opportunity for public service.

Richard F. Celeste, the 38-year-old Cuyahoga Countian who assumed the job last Jan. 13, even says it's "a challenging situation, although slender in terms of mandated responsibilities."

A Democrat of liberal leaning, the former state representative didn't expect a great many assignments from Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes—and so far, there have been none.

In fact, the lieutenant governor hasn't talked with Rhodes in the governor's office—"only a few times when we happened somewhere to bump into each other." The two were amiable on those occasions. "He's very friendly, as you know," Celeste said.

Under the Ohio Constitution, the lieutenant governor is required only to act as the presiding officer of the Senate—he can vote only in case of a tie—and to carry out whatever assignments are given him by the governor. The incumbent's predecessors traditionally have done little other than preside.

Celeste, an aspirant for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1978, said he thinks his present challenge "is more in the opportunities it presents for public service, and on-the-job training, if you will, if there ever should be any reason for me to cross the ahl." His office is across the hall from that of the 66-year-old Rhodes.

The $30,000-a-year state official said he spends "a fair amount of time meeting with cabinet officials, being briefed on what's going on, and visiting state facilities and institutions. I've been doing a fair amount of that."

Celeste said his reception from Rhodes' cabinet officials has been "excellent," adding that he thinks "it's because they feel fairly remote from the governor, especially when he was so involved in the (ill-fated Nov. 4) ballot issues." He said he has met with Adjutant Gen. James C. Clem, Workmen's Compensation Administrator Kenneth E. Krouse, Mental Health Chief Timothy B. Moritz, Corrections Chief George F. Denton, and Budget and Management Director Howard L. Collier, among others. He sees Collier about every two months "to talk about the budget," the lieutenant governor said.

He said he regards the visits, along with those he has made to state parks, mental institutions, and other facilities, "a good investment of time."

"But it's not like having the governor say 'look, I want you to be responsible for getting a housing program or a program for the senior citizens of this state...and I want you to be able to help me implement them.' But that isn't the way the governor and the lieutenant governor relate. I feel it's largely unstructured."

A Page Of Opinion Santa, Beware

'Tis the time of year when jolly old St. Nick beckons from his throne in the stores to all the children to come and tell him all about their youthful desires for Christmas.

With stars in their eyes the little ones will shyly but determinedly approach the familiar figure in the red suit, climb on his lap, look at the huge white beard and, maybe, turn up their noses.

Santa just shouldn't have onions for lunch. And he ought to watch the cigars and liquor, too. Santa, whether he is in the department store, on TV or standing on the corner, has to behave like Santa Claus.

He has to smell nice, talk nice, show his fans he is sincere, and for the sake of the parents not make any promises he cannot keep. Take a lesson, fellows. This is your time of the year. Don't blow it.

Attitude For The Job

By JIM BISHOP

Dusk leads a short life in Jamaica. The late sun disappears, taking with it all the sloping green of the mountains and the lime green of Ocho Rios Bay. For a moment, the world is veiled violet, then there is darkness and a star appears.

Glaister Hales and I sat on a small aluminum porch on the 10th floor of the Inter-Continental. We had been talking about his job as director of personnel at the hotel. The magic of evening came, and we fell silent. On the far side of the bay, the lights of a sugar ship tossed red and green paths on the water.

Hales likes his work. He is Jamaican, 44, with skin like polished ebony. He interviewed hundreds of men and women to staff the hotel. He never permits his intelligence to get in the way of good manners.

I told him I wouldn't work in a hotel at any time. People who pay high prices for room and meals become angry. If it rains, they blame it on the front desk. Or the waiter.

They leave "Do Not Disturb" signs on doorknobs and forget to remove them. The steak is too hot or too cold. The room maids move all the toiletries to the wrong side of the basin.

Hales has a rich smile. With my attitude, I could hardly be hired as one of the 250 persons working in the hotel. When he hires, his interviews are low-key, pleasant. His brown eyes study appearance.

He listens for signs of innate courtesy. The only thing more important than job training, he feels, is attitude. A man or woman working in a hotel must want to serve people.

The ship was moored to the dock now. Long pale stalks of sugar cane would come roaring down a chute from the mountains and fill the holds of the vessel. She would be standing out to sea by mid-morning because another hungry ship would be coming in.

It is sometimes more difficult, Hales says, to get the proper employees than it is to get guests. "I believe in service without servility," he says. "We Jamaicans walk erect."

Jamaica is a nation among a commonwealth of nations and it truckles to no one. The waiters are all literate and they take orders with grace and dispatch. Off the lobby, I have watched the smiling bartenders. They make my feet hurt. They stand for eight hours on floorboards.

The doorman looked lonesome in his flashy uniform. He stands waiting to open a car door, help a lady alight, find a taxi for a tourist and strike a match for someone else's cigarette.

No, I said, I would like none of these jobs. He asked if there was any job I would like in Jamaica. "Yes," I said, "yes, there is one."

I would like to be the governor-general of the island. This is my idea of nothing to do and all day in which to do it. The position is held by the Hon. Florizel Glasspole, which is one hell of a moniker.

He is appointed by Queen Elizabeth. He lives in a fine house. Mr. Glasspole is a ceremonial figure. When the government of Jamaica wants to stage a colorful garden party, or the investiture of certain officials, the governor-general may be dusted off and given his mace.

I am ideally suited for this work, in case Her Majesty reads this column. When not on official duties, I can be hung up in a closet. In fact, I could easily be coaxed into staring at the view of the mountains and sea at Ocho Rios forever.

Hales is sure I would not qualify. Perhaps, but if "attitude" means anything, I have it. The darkness was complete. The mountains disappeared. From far off, Sirius and Arcturus sent messages in dots and dashes.

Glaister Hales said he would have to leave. The visit was short, but I was impressed. He has an aura of being under control at all times, a man with built-in confidence.

In the morning I was in a striped robe on the same porch. The sun buttered the little half-moon bay with daffodils. The sugar ship had departed, leaving a smudgy crayon of smoke against the mountains.

Ocho Rios has more moods than a coquette. Other guests went shopping. I was on the little porch enjoying my fantasies...

Runoff Election For Post Slated

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — The presidency of United Auto Workers Local 425 here again will be decided by a runoff election.

Last May, incumbent Mike Pohorence edged challenger Pete Pavlich, but failed to get the 51 per cent margin required by the union bylaws for election. Pohorence again squeaked past Pavlich in the runoff.

Two days of voting this week gave Pavlich as a 50-vote victory over Pohorence out of some 5,000 votes cast—again short of the 51 per cent requirement.

The local will hold a runoff Dec. 16-17.

On this date —
In 1821, Panama declared itself independent of Spain and joined the Republic of Columbia.

In 1843, Britain and France recognized the independence of Hawaii.

In 1863, Americans observed the first Thanksgiving Day set aside by national proclamation.

In 1919, the first woman to be seated in the British House of Commons, Lady Astor, was elected.

In 1942, nearly 500 persons died in a fire that destroyed the Coconut Grove night club in Boston.

In 1969, West Germany's new government under Chancellor Willy Brandt took its first major foreign policy step by signing the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Ten years ago: The Roman Catholic Church in Rhodesia bitterly criticized the government of Prime Minister Ian Smith for having seized independence from Britain.

Five years ago: Robert Morton was taking over as U.S. Secretary of the Interior after President Richard Nixon's firing of Walter Hickel.

One year ago: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger ended talks with Communist Chinese officials in Peking without any new major breakthrough in improving relations between the U.S. and China.

Today's birthdays: Singer Rose Bampton is 66. Italian writer Alberto Moravia is 68.

Thought for today: Blessed is he that considereth the poor — the Psalms.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, the New Jersey Assembly in Burlington recommended that the Continental Congress do everything possible to secure redress of American grievances and restore union with Britain.

Plant Blast Cash Unpaid

NEW HAVEN (AP) — The insurance company covering a factory destroyed in a firebombing refused to pay for damages because the plant's owner was accused of ordering its destruction, according to testimony in federal court.

Protection Mutual Insurance Co. lawyer Lawrence Zelle told a U.S. District Court jury Tuesday his firm also failed to pay a $51 million claim because the fire was clearly a case of arson.

Zelle was the last of about 300 witnesses the prosecution has called in its case against Sponge Rubber Products Co. owner Charles Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio, and eight other men. They all are being tried on federal arson-related charges in the March 1 incident.

U.S. Atty. Peter Dorsey has said Moeller ordered the destruction of his $10 million Shelton factory to collect insurance.

Zelle was expected to be back on the witness stand Monday when the trial resumes after the Thanksgiving recess.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband gets an attack of angina whenever he gets aggravated or does the slightest work around the house. He is terrified and sits in the chair all day.

Mrs. B. V., N.H.

Dear Mrs. V.:
Before any contribution can be made to such a person one must understand what angina is, what causes it and how it can be reduced in severity and frequency.

Angina is a painful, oppressive sensation that occurs around the heart and chest in people whose blood supply to the heart muscle is inadequate.

The coronary arteries bring blood and oxygen to the heart muscle to keep it functioning. When these coronary arteries are narrowed by arteriosclerosis, the blood flow is reduced. Consequently, any additional exertion demands that the heart beat more rapidly.

This added effort causes the pain of "angina pectoris."

It is true that emotional stress can be responsible for anginal pain. The burden of heated discussions and anger may precipitate an attack.

Eating large meals draws vital blood away from the heart muscle and brings it to the stomach instead.

Walking rapidly, especially against the wind, diverts blood from the heart muscle to the lungs. This, too, may induce the painful constriction of angina.

Unusual fatigue, tobacco, alcoholic excesses and unaccustomed physical exertion can also produce these painful spasms.

As you undoubtedly know, there are a number of excellent drugs which can relieve the "coronary blood vessel spasms." Nitroglycerin tablets placed under the tongue are very effective.

Incidentally, it should be mentioned that these tablets may deteriorate with time, heat and humidity. Therefore, they may not be as effective as when purchased.

For sufferers of chronic, incapacitating attacks of angina, special "by-pass" surgery is often recommended. Before such a decision is made there must be intensive cardiovascular studies.

The oppressive pain of angina very often makes chronic invalids out of the sufferers. Your husband must be encouraged, by you and the family, and by his doctor, to learn to live within the limits of his capacity as a normal, functioning human being.

Ohio Employment Shows Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nonagricultural employment rose in five out of eight of the state's major metropolitan areas last month, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services reports.

Unemployment dropped .4 per cent statewide to 7.8 per cent, the bureau said, but remained markedly higher than the 4.2 per cent of the civilian work force recorded during the same period last year.

The bureau also reported the average weekly pay check taken home by Ohio production workers in October reached a new high for the third consecutive month. The checks jumped $1 to $232.97.

Columbus led increases in wage and salary employment in nonagricultural industries with a gain of 1.5 per cent. Hiring in education and retailing boosted the figure, with manufacturing jobs also rising .8 per cent to 93,000, the bureau said.

Nonagricultural industries in Toledo employed 285,000 workers last month, up .9 per cent from September, the bureau said. The nonmanufacturing increase was credited to hiring at schools and colleges. Layoffs of cannery workers lowered factory employment 1.1 per cent.

Seasonal expansion in educational jobs boosted Cleveland nonagricultural employment .7 per cent in the period, the bureau said. Factory employment declined .3 per cent from the month before to 255,000.

Nonagricultural employment advanced .5 per cent in Akron and Dayton. Manufacturing employment was down .1 per cent in Akron, but nonmanufacturing losses in amusement services were more than offset by gains in education-related work. In Dayton, the gain also was attributed to increases at schools and colleges, but factory jobs rose .4 per cent as well, bureau statistics showed.

Wage and salary employment held steady in Canton, where seasonal hiring in education balanced losses in manufacturing jobs. The average work week, at 39.8 hours, was fractionally longer.

Labor-management disputes and declines in steel orders forced wage and salary employment down .3 per cent in the Cincinnati area, the bureau reported. Manufacturing contributed a loss of .8 per cent to a monthly total of 551,000 nonagricultural jobs.

The Youngstown-Warren area suffered most from loss of steel orders. Layoffs dropped manufacturing employment 1.2 per cent and total nonagricultural jobs .7 per cent to 207,000 in October, the bureau said. In nonmanufacturing areas, seasonal educational hiring moderated shrinkage in amusement services during the period.

The average work week in Ohio, 40.8 hours, was changed little from September, the bureau said.

Unemployment in Ohio was estimated at 377,000 last month, about the same as the month before. Total employment rose to 4,437,000, the bureau report showed.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — How would you like to receive your next raise in a lump sum rather than spaced out in monthly or biweekly paychecks over an entire year's time?

Companies that have tried the method claim it has enabled them to improve worker morale at almost no additional cost to themselves, assuming of course that the raises were due to be granted anyway.

Workers report they benefit by being able to take advantage of investment opportunities, pay cash for long-delayed purchases, settle large bills, take vacations and even build savings accounts.

Some life insurers, who are the principal users of lump sum pay plans, consider them second only to flexible work hours as the most popular of the relatively newer "fringe" benefits.

A study by the Life Office Management Association, an industry group that runs special courses for executives and managers, found that about 25 life insurers now offer the benefit but that very few outside the industry do so.

They trace many of the plans to a program begun in 1969 by Union Mutual Life Insurance Co., Portland, Maine, that was limited to employees with a minimum salary of $15,000 and 10 years service.

Since then, Union Mutual has expanded its program to include those at a salary level of $10,000 and above with five years service, and permits immediate participation for some higher level executives. It plans further expansion.

While lump sum programs haven't been accepted throughout industry as have some other types of benefits, those who already have them believe there are special reasons today why that might happen.

After decades of increased benefits many industries feel they have reached a limit, albeit perhaps a temporary one. Flexible hours and lump sum pay programs permit them to add benefits without further increasing costs.

From the worker's viewpoint, the program permits a greater feeling of control over income at the very time that some industries and banks are preparing for the automatic, electronic transfer of payrolls to banks.

Users of the plan don't deny there are a few disadvantages.

Foremost, perhaps, is that the lump sum payments sometimes require additional administration and record-keeping. Deductions, for example, must be worked out in advance.

In addition, many plans develop variations in which one-half the raise is accepted in a lump and the remainder spread out as an addition to each paycheck.

Another drawback is that the impact tends to diminish with time. The employee forgets about the lump sum received and already used, and feels he is not making any more money than a year earlier.

But isn't this, defenders ask, more a comment on human nature and an inflated economy, than a criticism of lump sum pay programs?

District President Speaks To Legion Auxiliary Unit

Plans for Christmas were made during the Monday evening meeting of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home. Betty Sabine, president, presided over the business session which was opened with prayer by Maggie Mavis, chaplain.

Roseann Stinson, children and youth chairman, reported giving clothing where needed and plans for delivery of a Thanksgiving basket. She is accepting donations for Christmas baskets. Needed are canned goods, toys and pledges of money for perishable items. The deadline is Dec. 20 and all may be taken to her home, 215 East Union St.

The annual donation to "Gifts For Yanks Who Gave" was made. Every year on Christmas morning local Legionnaires visit Veterans' Hospital in Chillicothe and distribute gifts from this fund. This donation is possible due to this community's fine response on Poppy Day each year in May when the auxiliary asks everyone to "Wear A Poppy" in memory of those who gave their life or are now ill or disabled.

Mary Stephens, VA & R chairman, reported on the November visit to Veterans Hospital and discussed plans for the annual Christmas ward party and accepted monetary contributions from members for fruit trays which will be given to each patient. Mrs. Sabine pledged the cookies to be served during the social hour that visit.

Kathleen Hoffman, cards and flowers chairman, reported four get well cards sent. Mrs. Sabine reported the bake sale held last Saturday a success and thanked all who helped and the public for responding.

Nedra Blaney, secretary, read communications. A thank you note from the Senior Citizens Kitchen Band for the Unit's contribution and a letter for assistance to "Project Operation Rudolph" brought a motion to make a monetary gift.

Mrs. Sabine introduced the special guest of the evening, Mrs. Delno Olaker, 7th District president. She reported the district is in seventh place in membership and was pleased to hear many members had paid their dues in recent days. Members who have not paid are urged to do so soon. Mrs. Earl Worf, district secretary, was an additional guest. They invited members to the Tree Lighting Service in the recreation hall at Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe, Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. to share with the veterans an evening they look forward to. Mrs. Olaker accepted a contribution for the two monthly birthday parties at the hospital the district sponsors.

There will be a carry-in dinner 6:30 p.m., Dec. 22 with a short meeting followed by a gift exchange.

Following the closing prayer by the chaplain, salads, desserts and sandwiches brought by members were served.

Deercreek Club Discusses Events

Deercreek Homemakers Extension Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Purl Cochenour, Route 2, Williamsport to complete plans for the county-wide meeting and Christmas program.

Fourteen members and one guest answered roll call by telling a childhood memory. Following the business meeting discussion concerned the bazaar and Christmas program to be held Dec. 1 at the American Legion Post Home, Route 23, South. Members are to bring articles for a bazaar and provide nut breads.

Bessie Radcliff, lesson leader, presented Beverly Bechtel who showed the film "American Women". A discussion on the film followed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p.m., Dec. 17, at the home of Mrs. Paul Drummond with a Christmas program and gift exchange planned.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Needs To Be Snored To Sleep

DEAR ABBY: My husband died last winter, and ever since, I have had a terrible time falling asleep. I don't want to get into the habit of taking sleeping pills.

I recently visited my sister, and the sound of her husband's snoring in the next room put me to sleep instantly! Every night I was there I slept like a baby. I soon realized that what I'd been missing all these months was the sound of my beloved husband's snoring. It must have given me a sense of security and well being.

I suppose it is ridiculous to ask if there is some place I can buy a record or a tape of a man snoring. But that could be the answer to my problem. Can you help me?

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
DEAR SLEEPLESS: Ask your sister's husband to record a long snoring session on a cassette. All you'll need is something on which to play it, and you're off to dreamland!

Bower Scores In National Corn Program

Wayne Bower of Circleville has harvested an exceptional corn crop for this area.

Bower's yield of 152.8 bu. per acre places him high in the scoring for the 1975 Project: 200 corn growing program, although all of the entries have not yet been received.

The nationwide corn growing program is sponsored by the Producers of Funk's G-Hybrids and is the largest program of its kind in the country. National and regional winners will not be known until after December 1 entry deadline.

Bower's yield was with Funk's G-4507. It was adjusted to No. 2 corn at 15.5 per cent moisture from 2 acres. To qualify as an official entry, Bower had to harvest shelled corn from not less than 4 adjacent rows running the full length of the field.

Bower's crop was planted on May 3 in 38-inch rows at 23,000 plants per acre. It was harvested on October 27 at 18.8 per cent moisture. Harvest population was 21,500 per acre.

Bower applied 100 lbs. of 45 per cent nitrogen as a preplant, and 300 lbs. of 6-24-24 as a starter in his fertilizer program. The yield was verified by a disinterested witness.

Scioto Trails Has Firewood Sale Program

The Division of Forestry of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources is continuing its popular "cut your own" firewood sale program in response to public demand.

"The success of our firewood sales at three state forests this fall and many requests from the public have prompted us to schedule another firewood sale for December and to plan a fifth sale for January," said Ernest J. Gebhart, Chief of the Forestry Division.

The next "cut your own" firewood sale is scheduled for Dec. 8-20, excluding Sunday, Dec. 14, at Scioto Trail State Forest south of Chillicothe. Dead, dying and deformed timber will be available from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. daily.

Wood buyers must bring their own axes and saws to cut and split the timber into firewood, Gebhart explained. The cost of the wood will be $3 a rick or $9 a cord, with a limit of one cord per family.

"We hope more people will be able to take advantage of this firewood sale because the timber will be available on weekdays for the first time," Gebhart said. "Previous sales were conducted only on Saturdays."

The firewood sale at Scioto Trail will be at the service center on Stoney Creek Road about three miles east of U.S. Route 23. Signs will direct visitors to the sale area.

The Bible Described As A Universal Gift

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following editorial was prepared by Don Shoemaker for the Laymen's National Bible Committee, for use during National Bible Week, Nov. 23-30.

Whether the Bible is the full and true word of God, as many Christians believe; or whether it is the history of a religion, as all scholars acknowledge, or whether, finally, it is to be held simply as great literature, as agnostics and writers agree, it is to all mankind a universal gift.

No other book has been translated into nearly every language and dialect. No other book appears, in one version or another, in so many homes and inns and even hovels.

The Bible's very antiquity, which stretches back in the Old Testament to some date between the 6th and 8th centuries, is at once mysterious and electrifying. In the main the "preservation" of the hundreds of sacred manuscripts which were in fact lost is a strange triumph of the perseverance of the human heart and mind. To think further, that the Bible is the first typeprinted history of man, surviving natural catastrophe and the collapse of civilizations, which one may hold in his hands must make the senses tingle.

It is a universal book, yet 66 books in all, from Genesis to the sermons, from the "Preparation of the Old Testament," according to the fabulous encyclopedia, the Scofield Reference Bible, to the "Consummation of the Apocalypse."

As such the Bible is the human story, in its scope a chronicle of the family of man as awesome and compelling as an historical novel. The intense study of it, as Samuel Taylor Coleridge wrote, "will keep any writer from being vulgar in point of style."

But we miss the majesty of this book if we regard it only as a book and anything less than the consensus of man as related to God. James Cardinal Gibbons found it in all candor "full of obscurities and difficulties not only for the illiterate, but even the learned." Pope Leo XIII thought that its "sacred writers" could have made mistakes but they "render in exact language, with infallible truth, all that God commanded, and nothing else."

In keeping, then, with both scripture and man in the flesh the Bible is a book of both comfort and despair, of romantic love and voluptuousness, of the nobility of the human mind and of its crass brutality, written in a manner which both contents scholars and challenges them to try to improve — vainly I think — on its language. It is a very part of the vernacular of the last 20 centuries.

Anyone who can be without it through ignorance of its pageantry or scorn of its religiosity is sorely deprived.

Paul Lynde Named Comedian Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Lynde has been voted comedian of the year by the members of the American Guild of Variety Artists in the union's sixth annual poll for the Entertainer of the Year awards.

The guild sends out ballots to its 8,000 members for voting in 12 different categories. The awards will be presented in Las Vegas and the production shown as a television special next January.

Area Catholics Sponsor Annual Clothing Drive

The 27th Annual Thanksgiving Clothing Drive, sponsored by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, is presently in progress in the Columbus Diocese through Sunday. Father Bernard J. McClory, Vicar of Charities for the diocese, hopes the people will be generous again this year.

"The Catholic Relief Services depend on the clothing donated at this time each year to meet the needs of the poor in the third world and those who are victims of natural disaster," Father McClory stated. "This year we are emphasizing the need for light weight clothes, children's clothing, blankets and yard goods."

Some members of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women are soliciting merchants for yard goods, according to Mrs. Dorothy McGath, president. "We are trying to obtain either bolts of fabric, or remnants, so that women in the Far Eastern nations especially, can fashion the materials into clothing appropriate to the styles of those nations."

Although Catholics are being solicited for the donations, others who wish to contribute to the poor and needy of the world can take their clothing donations to any neighborhood Catholic church during the drive. Because most of the need is in tropical and semi-tropical areas, heavy, winter clothing is not requested.

Last year, 93,740 pounds of clothing was collected in the 23-county Columbus diocese and shipped to New York.

If you are skiing out in the woods with an amiable companion, you can revel in the white beauty of the snow. If, on the other hand, you are on a city street, facing an icy wind, you may feel quite differently about the matter.

Isn't that the way it is with almost everything? The way we react to a situation so often depends upon the way it affects us personally. We aren't to be blamed for this; yet we should stop to think that there are two sides to every story. We should not judge the merit of a viewpoint on whether or not it agrees with our own opinion.

The Church is used to different viewpoints, to controversy. It has lived with changing times and opinions for centuries, and it has never been more involved than it is today. The Church is changing as change is needed, ever ready to investigate and to explore the new. Have you been keeping up with it?

Juan Carlos Eyes Liberal Regime

MADRID, Spain (AP) — King Juan Carlos, bolstered by a massive show of support in the streets, today was reported preparing to name a new head of parliament in another test of his political program to liberalize Spain.

Top political leaders said the king's selection to replace — or continue — Alejandro Rodriguez Valcarcel could indicate the course the new leader expects to follow in the weeks ahead.

Juan Carlos, cheered by thousands of Spaniards and recognized by West European leaders at a gala ceremony in the Spanish capital Thursday, met with Rodriguez Valcarcel at the end of the day's events. There was no word from the king's Zarzuela Palace on what the two discussed.

An arch conservative, Rodriguez Valcarcel was named president of parliament six years ago by Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's autocratic leader for 36 years before his death Nov. 20. The parliament president officially ended his term two days ago.

The king has the power to keep him on for eight more days, reappoint him to the job, or replace him.

Spain's center-left opposition has said Rodriguez Valcarcel's removal is necessary on grounds he is a hangover from the Franco regime.

Juan Carlos, king and head of state now for six days, made his first move to appease Franco's longtime political opposition earlier this week by granting general amnesty to an estimated 15,000 prisoners.

But the left said the decree failed to cover many political prisoners, including the nation's top labor leader, Marcelino Camacho, serving six years for illegal association.

Camacho is considered the head of the clandestine trade unions — workers' commissions — whose membership is estimated between 200,000 and 400,000.

Police Thursday broke up a demonstration outside Madrid's Carabanchel Prison where Camacho is serving time and routed 3,000 persons calling for wider amnesty. More than a score of persons, including five Spanish journalists and two actresses, were released late Thursday night after being arrested at the protest site.

Policy Differences With Farmers Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peanut policy differences between Southern growers and Ford administration farm officials may be headed toward some type of compromise, although both sides are noncommittal at this stage.

The dispute involves changes made in government peanut price support operations by the Agriculture Department, mainly the manner in which the government is acquiring and disposing of surplus stocks.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has tried unsuccessfully in recent years to get peanut law changes through Congress so that growers can operate under a market-oriented "target price" system in use for wheat, corn and cotton and also to reduce federal costs.

But congressional leaders, including Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., have balked and insist on keeping the older system of strict acreage allotments and price supports.

The USDA, meanwhile, will not sell peanuts acquired under price support operations — surpluses which cannot find a market — back to processors for export at cut-rate prices as done in the past. Consequently, U.S. peanut exports are dropping and government stockpiles increasing.

Another change, put into effect earlier this year for 1974-crop peanuts, is a plan by which processors crush surplus peanuts for the government and turn the oil over to USDA in exchange for keeping the meal. All told, those policies add up to higher costs to the government.

Georgia farm officials accuse Butz of engineering the more expensive policies in a deliberate attempt to discredit the program by boosting its costs and thereby calling public attention to it.

But Kenneth E. Frick, head of the department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says the program "is so out of date" and bad to begin with that no one could discredit it further.

Although decisions have not been disclosed, Georgia farm leaders this week talked about a "two price" plan as a possible way to help trim federal costs and reach a compromise with the administration.

Muhammad Ali Sets Up Firm

CAIRO (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali is setting up a $50 million company in Cairo to sell farming and building equipment in the Middle East, says a spokesman for the firm.

Donald J. Macdonald, vice president of the Muhammad Ali Trade Development Corp., said Thursday the company will sell fertilizers, tractors, cement, steel building rods, buses and similar products.

"This is the kind of business Ali wants to do when he retires," Macdonald said. He added the company's scheduled debut in January or February is not tied to any Ali plans to retire from boxing.

Macdonald said initial capital came from Ali and Herbert Muhammad, son of the late Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad, and that profits will be used to build new mosques and schools in the United States.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week, the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any question concerning his Veteran Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q) I get VA compensation for a service connected disability. If I have to go to a VA hospital for treatment of the disability, will VA increase my compensation?

(A) If hospitalized 21 days or more, your disability rating will be increased to 100 per cent. Compensation at that rate will be paid until you leave the hospital.

(Q) I am a veteran receiving a 30 per cent Service Connected Disability Compensation. Am I eligible to receive a commissary card and go to the RAFB Commissary?

(A) No. Criteria for this privilege is that the veteran be totally disabled as the result of a service incurred or aggravated disability, and receiving medical care and treatment in a hospital or in a private domicile through the VA. The medical care and treatment furnished must be in the nature of continuous treatment even though furnished from an outpatient clinic. Total disability in itself does not meet the criteria for extending commissary privileges. Receipt of continuous medical care and treatment is the governing factor.

(Q) I am a veteran with a service connected disability rated at 50 per cent. My daughter has graduated from high school, and would like to attend nursing school. Can she receive educational benefits from the VA?

(A) No, she cannot. The Dependents Educational Assistance, formerly known as the War Orphan's Educational Assistance, is for the purpose of providing opportunities for education to: Children whose education would otherwise be impeded or interrupted by reason of the service connected total and permanent disability or death of a parent, or death of a veteran parent who died of non service connected causes while totally permanently disabled due to service connected disability, or whose veteran parent died the result of a service connected disability.

(Q) I understand that veterans are now eligible for a VA Education Loan. Is this true?

(A) This is true, with the basic requirements being that the veteran must not only be entitled to, but must also be in receipt of VA educational assistance benefits, and, he must have explored and exhausted all possibilities for a loan under the Guaranteed Student Loan Program, in the full amount needed, prior to making application for a VA Education Loan.

(Q) My daughter receives VA dependents' educational assistance because of the service connected death of my husband. She plans to marry in January. Will that affect her monthly allowance payment?

(A) Your daughter's marriage will have no effect on her education benefits. A widow's remarriage under the same program, however, would result in termination of benefits, unless the remarriage ended in death or divorce.

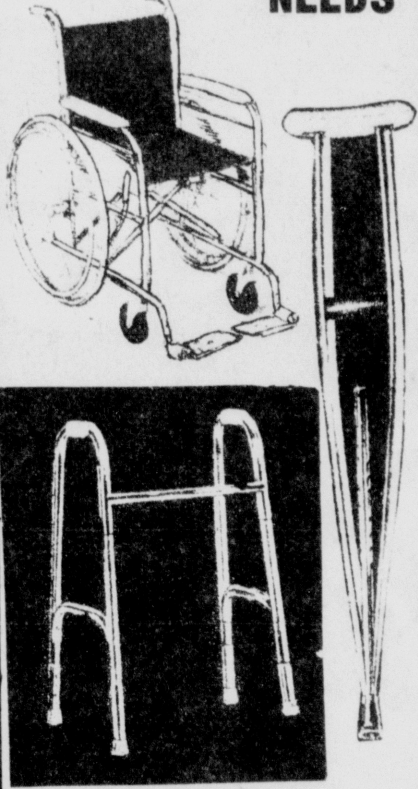

Holiday Bird Burned In Thursday Fire

It was a bleak Thanksgiving morning that greeted the Raymond Russells at 634 S. Court St. The Russells had placed their holiday turkey in the oven and set the automatic timer.

At 8:36 a.m. the Circleville Fire Department was called to the home. The automatic timer failed to work and both the turkey and the stove were ruined.

Firemen made no determination on the losses but cited a defective stove as the cause of the fire.

On Books And Activities At The Library

With the busy holiday rush ahead, you probably think you don't have time for reading. The staff at the Pickaway County District Public Library thinks relaxing with one of the good books available will help you survive the frantic pace December demands. Try it!

If magic holds a fascination for you, "Magic" by David H. Charney will make interesting reading. In it, the author reveals and explains some of the secrets of the world's great illusions.

The science of numbers has been practiced throughout many ages. This method of helping one to understand his destiny is growing in popularity. "It's All In Your Numbers" by Kathleen Roquemore will help the reader interpret the secrets of numerology.

"60 Seconds To Mind Expansion" by Cook and Davitz is intended to help you sharpen your senses, get rid of tension, and live completely through a series of provocative exercises.

If you're looking for some really wild new ideas for crocheting, "A New Look At Crochet" by Elyse and Mike Sommer has some you've never dreamed about!

Tennis anybody? John and Angie Newcombe have written "The Family Tennis Book." It's simplified instruction for men, women and children.

Baseball fans will enjoy reading "The Dodgers" by Tommy Holmes.

"Television" by Les Brown is an in-depth look at the business behind the box. It's a good way to understand ratings, programming, and the behind-the-scenes manipulation of viewers.

The most talked about crime of the Roaring Twenties was the Leopold-Loeb case. "The Crime Of The Century" by Hal Higdon strips away some of the fiction built up around this famous case and examines the facts 50 years later.

Interesting people and the world they live in are very much in evidence this week. "Julia Dent Grant" edited by John Simon is the personal memoir of Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant.

"No Chinese Stranger" by Jade Snow Wong is the account of the author's life 25 years after she wrote "Fifth Chinese Daughter."

"Louie's Widow" by Cecile Mileto is a true love story. Married to a gangster, the author describes her life with him and the terror following his gangland murder.

Actors make interesting subjects. "Lemmon" by Don Widener is the lively retelling of actor Jack Lemmon's life.

"The Greatest: My Own Story" has to be written by Muhammed Ali with a title like that! The famed boxer traces his life and record in the ring.

"The Courage To Create" by Rollo

Cincinnati was the first city in Ohio to establish free public schools.

May explores the courage required to tackle and implement new ideas.

Dorothy Eden has a new novel. "The Time Of The Dragon" is a spellbinding tale of three generations caught up in the suspense and enchantment of the Orient.

Joyce Carol Oates is another popular writer with a new book. "The Assassins" is the story of the family of a murdered political leader.

Jean Plaidy's latest offering in the historical fiction field is "The Italian Woman." It continues the story of Catherine de Medici where "Madame Serpent" left off.

"Valley Forge" by MacKinlay Kantor is a dramatic fictional account of the American Revolution peopled by the heroes of that episode in history.

"The Realms Of Gold" by Margaret Drabble is a sophisticated love story about a couple living a strange, disjointed life in the modern world.

For readers of WW II stories, "Winged Escort" by Douglas Reeman is a modern sea story as seen through the eyes of a naval pilot.

"Santa Baby" by Vesle Fensstermaker is a funny-sad novel about the department store Santa Claus business.

Romantic suspense, Crime Club mystery, and Double D westerns have new arrivals on the shelves.

You don't need a charge card or a checkbook to shop your library so take a break from the holiday pressure and do some free shopping for relaxation.

Fire Damages Lanes At Tiffin

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — Fire caused an undetermined amount of damage Wednesday night at the Gay Lanes bowling alley on Tiffin's west side, fire officials said.

Five area departments responded to the fire, which was confined to the mens' lockerroom. The nearby areas received some minor smoke and water damage.

Bascom Fire Chief Delbert Johnson said witnesses reported seeing waste paper burning in a coat closet in the lockerroom. He said arson was suspected in the blaze.

Laurelville News

By CELESTA HOY
332-3251

Richard (Rick) Stevens and his wife "Cookie" of Circleville are parents of a son born Nov. 12 at Berger Hospital. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stevens of Route 1, Laurelville. The Stevens are parents of an older son.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Laurel Hills Church met on last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry M. Ross. The president, Mrs. Ella Williams, presided during the meeting. Opening prayer was Mrs. Hattie Karr. Thank offering boxes were turned in by the members.

Mrs. Phyllis Swackhammer was in charge of the program and showed an interesting film on Brazil. The scripture reading was in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Mrs. Swackhammer presented each one present a crocus bulb to plant. A card of thanks was read from the Rev. Glen Biddle for a cash gift sent to the Jackson Mission.

It was also voted to give a cash gift for needy children for clothing. This will go to a committee comprised of Mrs. Hugh Poling, Mrs. David Fetherolf and Dalton DeLong of the Trinity United Methodist Church.

Mrs. O. V. McFadden gave the closing prayer. Refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostess, Mrs. Ross, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. McFadden. A marked napkin was held by Mrs. Ramon Bigham for which she received a prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Bigham were honored on their anniversary when their children were hosts at an open house on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 in the social rooms of the Laurel Hills Church.

Mr. Bigham and the former Jacqueline Dennis were married on Nov. 23. (Thanksgiving Day) 1950 in the former United Brethren Church by the Rev. Raymond Welch. Mrs. Carol Tatman, cousin of the bride was matron of honor and William Crider, was best man.

Mrs. Tatman, Mr. Crider and Rev. Welch were all present last Sunday to enjoy the 25th celebration. Of special interest to everyone were the wedding pictures that were on display at the anniversary party. New pictures were taken of the wedding party and of the honored family.

Helping with the celebration were Guy and Carol Tatman and Mrs. Candy Reams Karr.

The Bigham's children are Tim, Jean Ann, Benji, Paul and John at home and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bigham of Route 1, Laurelville.

Among the guests attending on Sunday were both Ramon and Jackie's mothers. They are Mrs. Grace Bigham of Route 1, Rockbridge and Mrs. Elthi

Mercer of near South Bloomingville.

A family get-together on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Strous was in honor of the birthday of Wilma's mother, Mrs. Zola Flanigan of Laurelville. Joining in the celebration were, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parsons of Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Clendell Reid of Tarlton, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hupp and baby Aaron, Francis Hupp and Terry, Pat and Melinda, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Strous, Steve, Tracy and Kathy Strous. Mrs. Geneva Hupp was ill and couldn't attend the party.

In listing the guests from Laurelville who attended the wedding last Saturday evening of Miss Janice Haynes and Scott Green in Delaware, the name of Mrs. Janet Hart was unintentionally omitted. Janet was the matron of honor for Janice.

The Logan Elm Garden Club was entertained last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. George Swebston in Laurelville. Fourteen members attended.

The girls of the Laurelville Girl Scout Troop 625 are working toward their pen pal badges. In order to win this badge the girls have each chosen a lady in Laurelville or near by to whom they will be a secret pen pal for the next several months.

The ladies they have chosen are persons living alone and whom the girls think would appreciate receiving cards and small remembrances. If you are one who has received or will soon receive a letter from one of these girls telling you she is the girl scout that has chosen her secret pal, you should feel very proud that you can be a part of this very thoughtful project and please answer the letter and the three or four questions she asks.

The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Betty Carter and Mrs. Jane Reid ask that you address your reply to Secret Pen Pal, Girl Scout Troop 625, Laurelville, Ohio, 431135, in care of Mrs. Jane Reid.

Plan to attend a party which the girls will have at the completion of the project and meet your little Secret Pen Pal.

Dr. and Mrs. Edgar (Bud) Kelley and family of Perrysburg were holiday guests of Mrs. Kelley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swebston. The Swebstons will be leaving soon to spend the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds and Elwood spent from Wednesday until Saturday with Mrs. Reynolds' mother, Mrs. Bessie Stetson of Windsor. On Thanksgiving day they were all dinner guests of Ruth's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Burlinski and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Noggle visited on Friday with her brother, Gilbert Walton at Veteran's Hospital, Chillicothe. Gilbert fell recently and suffered a dislocated shoulder and facial lacerations and bruises. On Friday evening the Noggles visited Mrs. Noggle's sister and brother-in-law, Marvin and Agnes Eveland of South Bloomingville. Agnes is nursing a broken ankle received in a fall at her home.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I pay an annual fee plus monard. Are these deductible?

(A.) The annual fee is not deductible because it is not interest, but a charge for maintaining and servicing your account.

However, the separately stated monthly finance charges you pay are interest, and may be deducted.

For more information, see IRS Publication 545, Income Tax Deduction for Interest Expense, available free at your nearest IRS office.

(Q.) I maintain a foreign student in my home under the auspices of a national charity. Am I entitled to any deductions for the expense of maintaining the student?

(A.) Assuming the student is not your dependent and is a full time student in the twelfth or any lower grade, you may be able to deduct some of the expenses. However, you must have a written agreement between you and the charitable organization stating that educational opportunities are provided the student. You may receive no reimbursement toward your expenses.

You may deduct up to $50 of your expenses for the student for each school month the student stays with you more than 15 days. The deduction is considered a charitable deduction, and is itemized on Schedule A of Form 1040.

(Q.) My medical insurance reimbursed me for some of my medical expenses this year. Will this affect the tax I pay?

(A.) Yes, if you itemize your deductions. You must reduce your medical expenses by the amount of the reimbursement you received from insurance, including Medicare benefits (Medicare A) and supplementary Medicare benefits (Medicare B), paid to you or the provider of the service.

The expenses must be reduced by the amount of the reimbursement before you apply the one and three percent limitations for medical expense deductions. However, you do not have to include any reimbursement for loss of earnings or damages for personal injury.

Donna Milburn Places 1st In 'Hunger' Essay

Donna Milburn, daughter of Robert Milburn, 323 Meadow Lane, placed first in an essay contest sponsored by the Columbus South District of the United Methodist Church. Jerry Yeatts, son of Mrs. Hazel Yeatts, 507 North Pickaway Street placed second. Both are members of the Community United Methodist Church and students at Circleville High School.

The topic for the contest was "World Hunger". Each youth was asked to define the problem, to discuss the responsibility of the Christian Church in meeting this problem, and to tell what he, as an individual could do to help solve the problem.

Miss Milburn will receive a full scholarship to attend the United Nations-Washington D.C. seminar to be held Feb. 1-7 by the West Ohio Conference of the United Methodist Church and will represent the district in the contest.

Couple Saved From Watery Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On a quiet day of fishing, Allen Zovar and Susan Shepherd were blown out to sea to spend four days in a rubber raft surrounded by sharks, overwhelmed by waves and without food or water.

"It's the happiest Thanksgiving of our lives," Zovar said Thursday when they were picked up after rowing to an island. "We just kept our faith up, kept our will power up. And we prayed a lot."

Zovar, 32, a physical therapist, said he and Miss Shepherd, 26, a nurse who is separated from her husband and prefers to use her maiden name, "drank our own urine, and that saved us." Both were reported in good condition and were not hospitalized.

The couple had been fishing a quarter mile off the coast last Sunday when their raft was blown out to sea.

"The Santa Ana wind came up in about one minute and we ripped loose from the kelp," he said. "We yelled and screamed but nobody heard us. I had a pair of fins and I jumped overboard and kicked while my girlfriend rowed, but it did nothing."

Their first encounter with sharks came shortly after they were blown into the Santa Barbara Channel between the Southern California coast and offshore islands.

"We had two or three fish floating next to us on a stringer and the sharks came up and grabbed them," said Zovar. "We cut the stringer loose and just prayed."

"The third night out ... two or three sharks started circling and sliding underneath the raft," he said. "We could feel them bumping the bottom of the boat. They did that for about half an hour."

"What we did was remain silent and keep our feet off the floor so the sharks wouldn't sense there was anything alive," he said. "We figured if we were silent they might go away, and that's what they did."

The winds blew them an estimated 40 miles offshore and kicked up large waves, Zovar said, adding that "we stayed awake all the night, just bailing and fighting the waves."

On Tuesday morning the couple saw Anacapa Island about six miles away, but were blown away from the island.

On Wednesday, Zovar said, "we woke up in front of Santa Cruz Island and we tried again. We hadn't seen any rescue craft and we were being dehydrated pretty rapidly so we started out rowing Wednesday morning."

They reached the island at sundown and landed in a cove.

"We felt that God guided us into that cove," Zovar said, "In the morning we woke up and saw a mast and immediately waved everything we could."

He and Miss Shepherd were taken aboard a boat anchored in the cove. Coast Guard officials were contacted and sent a helicopter to pick up the couple.

Pope Sees Church Cooperation

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Pope Paul VI said today he is confident Roman Catholic collaboration with the World Council of Churches will "grow even greater."

His message, read to the General Assembly of the interdenominational body, was one of several sent by reigning heads of various major branches of Christianity, including the patriarchs of Moscow, Constantinople and Ethiopia.

Pope Paul told the representatives of 271 Protestant, Orthodox, Anglican and Old Catholic denominations totaling nearly 500 million members that "your desire for unity and reconciliation coincides with our own."

Noting that he had appointed 16 Roman Catholic delegate-observers who are participating in the assembly and that Catholics had undertaken various cooperative functions with the council, he said:

"We trust that efforts which the Catholic Church has made and will continue to make to promote the ecumenical movement and, wherever possible to collaborate with the World Council of Churches, will continue and grow even greater with God's help."

There have been joint discussions about possible Roman Catholic membership in the council, but consideration of it lately has been sidelined. Roman Catholics take a regular part in some council operations and commissions on doctrine, and on justice and peace.

In about 25 countries, Roman Catholic branches have become members of national councils of churches in recent years. A major exception is the United States.

Ecumenical Patriarch Dimitrius I of Constantinople (modern Istanbul), chief spiritual leader of all Eastern Orthodoxy, said in his message that the assembly has a "major responsibility in the history of the ecumenical movement and in the life of the contemporary world."

Referring to the assembly's theme, "Jesus Christ Frees and Unites," the patriarch added an admonition, reflecting some Eastern Orthodox uneasiness about the council's activities on social-economic issues:

"It would be a pity if it fell into demagoguery. It would be a pity if it secularized the freedom of Christ. It would be a pity if it reduced unity in and through Christ to slogans and temporary expediency."

Patriarch Pimen of Moscow expressed hope the assembly would act as "an effective instrument in its service to various needs of con-

Artists Seek New Image

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nation's artists, writers and other humanists are hoping to clean up the ages' old temporary humanity" and voiced support for Africans in hastening "development of the life of their peoples in peace and security, and the ultimate defeat of colonialism and racism in the African continent."

Patriarch Abuna Theophilus of Ethiopia also expressed "our solidarity with the oppressed and down-trodden." Noting that in Africa there are "people of one race or class oppressing those of other" races and classes, he added:

"This indeed is a contradiction of the Christian faith."

image of the "dirty old man," in keeping with the increasing numbers of the elderly.

The start came about mid-November with a symposium at Case Western Reserve University directed by history professor David Van Tassel.

Van Tassel says social sciences have been concerned with problems of aging for years but that the arts and humanities hadn't dealt with the subject.

The symposium of 40 scholars, artists and writers from across the nation produced a variety of reports designed to focus attention on the image of old age as a time of senility, decline, weakness and obsolescence—and sometimes to dispute that image.

Buckeyes Face Butler

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A quicker and more unified Ohio State basketball team, at least in the eyes of its coach, launches the season Saturday at Butler.

"Our quickness is our strength. And hopefully the unity aspect will turn into a plus. We're a little more oriented toward a team concept," said Fred Taylor, the Buckeyes' coach.

"We're not very deep and we're hurting size-wise," added the dean of Big Ten coaches opening his 17th campaign at his alma mater.

Ohio State will be playing without one of its returning regulars, 6-foot-2 guard Mark Bayless, at Butler. The sophomore from Chillicothe has run afoul of grade problems.

Bayless, who averaged almost nine points as a freshman, did not practice this week with the Buckeyes. He spent his time studying for final examinations.

"We'll probably know next week if we're going to have Mark this season," said Taylor.

Jud Wood, a 6-3 sophomore from Columbus, takes over Bayless' spot and will team with another holdover starter, 6-foot junior Larry Bolden. He is the top scoring returnee with 16 points per game.

Craig Taylor, the holdover 6-10 senior center, has shed 22 pounds since practice opened. He's down to 238, still three pounds above his normal playing weight.

The Buckeyes' forwards are untested. Clance Hammond, a 6-6 junior, played sparingly last year. He will be joined by 6-5 freshman Fred Poole.

Ohio State finished with a 14-14 overall and 8-10 conference record last year. "And we gave five games away," said Taylor.

Butler, a member of the Indiana Collegiate Conference, posted a 10-16 mark last winter. The Bulldogs have three starters back, 6-7 forward Barry Collier, 6-3 guard John Dunn and 5-10 Wayne Burris.

Burris, 5-10, is the top scorer back. He averaged 13.2 points, one more point than Dunn, who also plays forward. Collier hit more than seven points a game and is the No. 1 rebounder for the Bulldogs.

Elsewhere, Ohio University gets the jump on the state's major schools. The Bobcats face Massachusetts tonight in the first round of the opening Hall of Fame Tournament at Springfield, Mass.

Kent State faces Saturday's biggest assignment. The Flashes play at Notre Dame. Xavier opens with a difficult road game, too, visiting Purdue, an expected Big Ten title threat.

Miami, Dayton and Cincinnati all are heavy favorites at home. Toledo and Bowling Green do not start their schedules until next week.

Miami's Redskins, picked to finish second in the Mid-American Conference behind Western Michigan, face Ohio Northern. Dayton awaits Ashland and Cincinnati's 10th-ranked Bearcats begin with Cleveland State.

In other games Saturday, Oakland is at Wright State, Hillsdale at Youngstown State, Wilmington at Otterbein, Michigan-Dearborn at Capital, Wooster at Denison, Wilberforce at Central State, Baldwin-Wallace at Marshall, Defiance at Heidelberg, Morris Harvey at Marietta, Grove City at Mount Union, Ohio Wesleyan at Kenyon, Wittenberg at Earlham, Walsh at Gannon, Tiffin in the Palm Beach, Fla., tournament, Cedarville in the Grace tournament and Malone in the Louisville tournament.

All eyes will be on Mill St. gym Saturday night when the Braves of Logan Elm move in to meet the Tigers of Circleville in what could be a real donnybrook.

Both teams are about evenly matched in height and personnel and will be looking for their second victories of the season.

The Braves stopped Teays Valley in their season opener while Circleville downed Unioto.

"We saw Circleville go against Unioto and they looked like the Tigers of old," Logan Elm coach Asa Bradbury stated. "They ran very well, were aggressive and displayed a lot of poise and patience. We were quite impressed. However, our boys are ready and are looking forward to the challenge."

Logan Elm starters will be: Scott Allen, 5-foot-9, and Mark Skinner, 5-foot-11, at the guards; Mike Miller, 6-foot-6, at center; Chuck Cave, 6-foot-2, and Jeff Reichelderfer, 6-foot, at the forwards.

"We had the opportunity to see Logan Elm and Teays Valley play and the Braves were quite impressive," Circleville coach Jim Bailey commented.

STATE CHAMPS — These girls from Frankfort Adena are the Class A Ohio State High School volleyball champions. The girls defeated Bucyrus Winford in the semifinals and won the state title with a win over Newark Catholic in the finals Saturday at Otterbein College. They finished the season

Local Schools Set For Big Weekend Of Cage Warfare

All four local schools will see cage action this weekend with Westfall traveling to Zane Trace and Teays Valley hosting West Jefferson tonight and Circleville meeting Logan Elm Saturday night at the Mill St. gym.

Coach Mike Eckle's Mustangs will be going up against a Zane Trace team that has two wins under its belt and is one of the favorites to capture the laurels in the Scioto Valley Conference.

However, the Mustangs may have something to say about this as they looked good in their season opener with a big win over Millersport.

"We are improving all the time and are getting to the place where we want to be," coach Eckle stated.

Zane Trace will run and shoot and also use a set pattern offense. On defense, they will use a man to man and at times will switch to a 2-3 zone.

Starting for Westfall will be: Bill Hamman and Terry Hanson, guards; Mack Dick, center; Chris Riddle and Jeff Karshner, forwards.

The Vikings of coach Bob Hoover will be taking on West Jeff, 1-0, in a Metropolitan League clash.

Teays Valley dropped a 65-60 decision to Logan Elm in the season opener despite a furious fourth quarter rally.

Injuries and sickness have plagued the Vikings this week and a starting lineup probably won't be determined until game time.

The Teays Valley reserve game will not get underway until 7 p.m. with the varsity game following in about 20 minutes.

All eyes will be on Mill St. gym Saturday night when the Braves of Logan Elm move in to meet the Tigers of Circleville in what could be a real donnybrook.

Rams Rip Lions

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A drippy dome made the Pontiac Stadium turf a soggy synthetic, but the Detroit Lions just weren't able to throw a wet blanket on Los Angeles' Thanksgiving Day party.

The Rams rode to their third consecutive National Conference West Division title Thursday on the passing arm of James Harris, handing the Lions a 20-0 National Football League loss.

It was the first time the Lions had been shut out since an identical 20-0 setback to Washington in the 1973 Turkey Day game.

Although all 80,638 tickets were sold, 11,086 persons decided not to show up for the traditional holiday battle — perhaps choosing to join the estimated 40 million who viewed the game on national television.

Indeed, if they were Lions' fans, they undoubtedly made the right decision. Why spoil a Thanksgiving feast at grandma's to watch the Rams feast on the Lions?

While the Rams raised their record to 9-2, Detroit fell to 6-5 to see its flickering wild-card playoff hopes just about vanish. The unbeaten Minnesota Vikings, meanwhile didn't even have to leave the dinner table to clinch the Central Division title. The loss by

"They have excellent personnel and showed good defensive pressure and fine offensive balance and depth. We are looking for a tough game and will have to play well to win. They will challenge us, both offensively and defensively. We will be ready," coach Bailey said.

Starting for Circleville will be Mike McCoy, 5-foot-9, and Frank Merrill, 6-foot, guards; George Moore, 6-foot-3, center; Biff Bumgarner, 5-foot-11, and Tom McGuire, 6-foot-1½, at the forward posts.

second-place Detroit did that.

"It's not over for us," said Lions' Coach Rick Forzano, always the optimist. "If I die tomorrow, I'll say on my gravestone that this team gave everything they had. These guys don't know the meaning of the word quit."

The Rams don't know the meaning of the word, either. Harris wouldn't quit throwing touchdown passes and wide receiver Harold Jackson wouldn't quit catching. Harris completed 11 of 24 passes for 157 yards and three TDs.

The first was a first-quarter 11-yarder to wide receiver Ron Jessie. The next two went to Jackson, a 17-yarder in the third period and a 38-yard bomb in the fourth quarter.

Jackson, who had little trouble evading cornerback Levi Johnson, snared five passes for 106 yards.

Lions' quarterback Joe Reed had a bad day, but Forzano said poor timing had a lot to do with it because some receivers had practiced little during the week due to injuries.

Reed hit on 11 of 26 passes for 117 yards. The closest the Lions got to paydirt was in the closing minutes when they reached the Rams' 12-yard line. They got to the 14 in the second quarter, but safety Bill Simpson intercepted a Reed aerial at the goal line.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

A tie game leaves one with the same feeling that one gets after consuming a gourmet dinner that fails to provide the appetizer or dessert — It just isn't satisfying.

Several Sundays ago we watched two well matched professional football teams battle for four periods only to see the score tied when the final gun sounded. The league now has a rule that all tie games must play overtime to determine the winner.

This we strictly agree with — It is the manner in which the winner is determined that we take issue with.

The teams flip a coin to see who will receive the ball and then they play "sudden death" — the first team that scores wins.

We don't feel that this is really fair as a good kick return, a couple of short passes or good runs, and the team has the ball over the 50-yard line and into now what is called "field goal territory."

With teams having kickers who can split the uprights from 40 or 50 yards out, the defending team doesn't have much of a chance. This is exactly what happened in this game as the receiving team kicked a field goal and the defensive team never did see the ball.

We think that it would be a fairer situation if the defensive team then was allowed to receive a kickoff and see what they could do. If they failed to score while they had possession, then the ball game is over but at least they also had a chance to score.

Some people will say it will make the games too long — but this we don't buy. What about the baseball games that go 19 or 20 innings? People stick around and feel that they are really getting their money's worth. Or why do so many people buy tickets to doubleheaders, knowing that they are going to be in the ball park five or six hours? It's just the feeling that they are really getting a bargain.

People watching a tie football game played off are not going to complain just because it goes a couple of overtimes — They will feel that they are getting a bonus on their ticket and the teams will both be getting a fair shake.

That's the way we see it — And if they would give it a try they might find it works and is fairer settlement of a long, hard struggle — At least they could give it a try.

Our "fearless" forecast — West Jeff will find it's really "Rough Riding" when they meet the Vikings . . . Pioneers will get trampled by the Mustangs . . . The Tigers should take a close one from the Braves.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Southeast Grid Stars Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lancaster's Steve Swinehart and Miami Trace's Greg Cobb, two versatile high school football performers, are the Ohio Southeastern District Class AAA Players of the Year.

A district board selected Swinehart as the top back for The Associated Press. The 6-foot-2, 190-pound senior quarterback passed and ran for 1,424 yards and 16 touchdowns.

Cobb, a 6-foot, 190-pound senior, participated in 144 tackles, forced six fumbles and intercepted three passes. He played both offensive tackle and defensive linebacker and led Miami Trace in tackles for the last three seasons.

Fred Zechman, who guided Miami Trace to a 9-0-1 record and the South-Central Ohio League title, was voted the Southeastern Class AAA Coach of the Year.

Bob Lutz of Class AA Ironton, 9-1 for the regular season, and Dave Snipes of Class A Albany Alexander, 9-1, were the other district Coaches of the Year.

Brian Bays, who pitched 12 touchdown passes to lead Wheelersburg to a 9-1-0 season, was the area Class AA Back of the Year and Ken Fritz, Ironton's offensive guard-linebacker who was second team all-state last year, the No. 1 AA lineman.

In Class A, Randy Bone, who accounted for 106 points and 1,176 yards for Chesapeake and played outstanding defense, was the Back of the Year and Clark Gilmore of Frankfort Adena, averaging 14 tackles as a linebacker, the No. 1 lineman.

Canadiens Edge N.Y. Islanders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Canadiens are making a good case for the defense and with a lawyer in goal, that's a pretty strong argument.

"Last year we took no pride in our defense, but now we're really a hard-nosed team," says goaltender Ken Dryden. "We no longer shy away from making the big defensive play. We seem to come up with it when we have to."

Dryden, a full-fledged lawyer who was lured back into hockey by big money last year after a short sabbatical, has never been better in his career.

And Thursday night, he continued to glitter in goal while leading the Canadiens to a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the New York Islanders. His performance plunged his goals-against average under 1.7, a figure that leads the NHL.

"The team is more consistent this year," said Dryden, who has accounted for 12 victories, four of them shutouts. "Everybody has been playing better. I'm playing as well in the net as I did before my sabbatical. And I'm playing better outside of the net."

In the only other NHL game, the Kansas City Scouts nipped the St. Louis Blues 3-2. In the World Hockey Association, the Indianapolis Racers stopped the Winnipeg Jets 3-1; the Minnesota Fighting Saints turned back the Cincinnati Stingers 5-3; the San Diego Mariners beat the Quebec Nordiques 5-1 and the Calgary Cowboys blasted the Phoenix Roadrunners 5-1.

Fighting Saints Trip Cincinnati Stingers

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's Wayne Connelly has always been recognized as a good shooter and now he's found a new set of personally-designed shoulder pads to his liking.

Connelly fired in five goals to tie a World Hockey Association record and lead the Fighting Saints to a 5-3 victory over Cincinnati Thursday night.

"I had seven good shots on goal against Cincinnati a couple of weeks ago and couldn't get any in," said the 36-year-old winger, who also tried out a set of shoulder pads he and teammate Ted Hampson had designed. "I was just trying out the pads to see how they felt."

New Coach Believes Defense Is Success

CO-CAPTAINS — The 1975-76 basketball season will honor seniors Mike McCoy, left, and George Moore as team captains. Moore has played basketball for six years, two of those on the varsity team. Mike has played for six years, two on the CHS varsity team. When asked about their responsibilities as captains of the team, McCoy responded, "Captains set an example for the new players and have to keep the spirit going for the team." More added, "The team looks better this year than last year at this time because of more experienced players." The basketball team will play Logan Elm Saturday night at home.

By DEB DOWNEY

Jim Bailey, Circleville's new varsity basketball coach, believes that "defense is the foundation of success."

Bailey has set two major goals for the 1975-76 basketball season. First, to represent the school and community in the best possible way. Second, to be an outstanding tournament team. He believes that the tournament will be a good test to see how much the team has improved. A third goal, of course, is to repeat as SCOL champs.

The "massacre" defense of Circleville is the basis of the team's success. Its aim is to devour the opposition, not only team-wide but individually, also. It involves man-to-man pressure and mental toughness within the boys.

"Our offense is built on rapid movement of both men and the ball. We try to get everyone in the act," stated Bailey. Poise, penetration, precision, patience and pressure are regarded as the keys to a good offense unit. Once again, mental toughness is very important for the players to be able to perform well, he explained.

According to Bailey, a combination of all these different aspects make for a great basketball team, which is certain to be proven as the season progresses.

Also in the basketball spotlight of the Tigers is Dennis Stewart, coach for the reserve team.

"We hope for a season record of 18-0," commented Stewart. He added that the defensive unit is very strong, but the players will have to put forth their greatest effort in the area of scoring

Guidance Guidelines

Ohio University has announced that all students who wish to begin their studies at Athens in the fall of 1976 must submit their applications for admission no later than April 1, 1976. They are encouraging students to submit scores for the American College Test rather than the Scholastic Aptitude Test, although the latter will continue to be accepted.

This week a representative from Miami University met with interested juniors and seniors. Next week a representative from Hocking Technical College, Nelsonville, will be at CHS on Thursday to provide information concerning the wide variety of two-year technical programs they offer.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Controversial issues could cause contention, endless word-wasting. Don't join in. Rather, listen to all sides and you will arrive at the truth.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Be solicitous of fellowmen but not to the point of being "taken in." There are some who would prey on anyone who will listen.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A swinging day if you're in the mood. But care! Too much "individuality" could get out of hand, too much imagination leads to freakishness. Avoid the bizarre.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Accelerate the tempo of your activities but avoid the unthinking haste that makes the proverbial waste. You may have to make some concessions but they will pay in the long run.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Study all requirements; discriminate carefully between what's necessary and what's not too important in your schedule. There may not be time for all, but sure to tend to essentials fully.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): As with Gemini, you may have tendencies toward the unconventional. Watch out for those who are highly erratic, who'll try anything just to be "different."

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Be prepared for changes, perhaps some confusion. You may take an unexpected trip, have surprise visitors or receive an unusual invitation. At any rate, variety should make the weekend stimulating.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mars influences now encourage well-organized moves, but you will need a great deal of resourcefulness to cover all the angles. Evening hours promise stimulating social activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A conflict between business and personal affairs may bring on some tension. You can counter by isolating the essential and getting it out of the way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take stock of your resources and give thought to new moves now — even if you do nothing about them until next week.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): This should be a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities promise to be most enlivening. Romance also favored.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Personal relationships somewhat unsettling. Don't become involved in the affairs of others. Results could be fortunate.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, extreme versatility and lofty ambitions — toward which you work determinedly and unflinchingly. You should have — and probably need — two outlets for your talents: If you choose business as a career, cultivate art as a hobby and vice versa. You may be attracted to public life and, if so, could succeed as a statesman, diplomat, head of an institution or as an entertainer. You are a person of high ideals, with built-in magnetism and a strong feeling for the artistic. Birthdate of: Louisa May Alcott, author; A. Bronson Alcott, educator, philosopher.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' three-hour showing of MGM's "That's Entertainment" greatly helped the network come out No. 1 in last week's ratings averages. But NBC's "Sanford and Son" was the week's highest-rated program.

A.C. Nielsen Co. figures showed that the NBC entry got an estimated 46 per cent of the national audience while it was on, compared to 41 per cent for CBS' show, the second highest-rated program last week.

According to the ratings, made public Tuesday, the week's lowest-rated show was ABC's "Barbary Coast," which drew less of an audience than even the next lowest-rated show, a CBS Sunday special about New York's much-publicized fiscal crisis.

"Barbary Coast" is among four or five ABC series expected to get the ax today, when the network says it will announce its mid-season lineup.

According to the Nielsen estimates, programs in the 20 most-popular category last week, were: "Sanford and Son" (NBC); "That's Entertainment" and "The Family" (CBS); "Six Million Dollar Man" (ABC); "Charlie Brown Special" and "The Waltons" (CBS); "Chico and the Man" (NBC); "Happy Days" (ABC); "NBC Monday Movie;" "ABC Friday Movie;" "Phyllis" (CBS); "NBC Saturday Movie;" "The Jeffersons," "Rhoda" and "Kojak" (CBS); "ABC Sunday Movie;" "Cannon" and "Maude" (CBS), and NBC's football-delayed showing Sunday of "Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory."

Two shows tied for 20th place in the Nielsen's — NBC's "Little House on the Prairie" and ABC's "Streets of San Francisco."

NEW YORK (AP) — This isn't a good season for new series. The networks have axed a total of 16 series, of which 15 were new. That's a pretty high doom rate for a season that began with 26 new series.

At this time last year, the networks only had cancelled 12 series, 11 of which were among the 24 new shows in the 1974 ratings race.

ABC, the last network to announce its mid-season program changes, this week dropped six programs, among them Howard Cosell's low-rated, highly-publicized Saturday variety show. Its finale will be on Jan. 17.

It was a new series, as were four other casualties — "Barbary Coast," "Mobile One," "When Things Were Rotten" and "Matt Helm." The only veteran getting the ax was "That's My Mama."

The interesting thing about this season's program-whacking is that shows in the heavily-sanitized, much-criticized "family hour" accounted for most of the cancellations.

A total of 11 "family hour" shows, 10 of them new, have been dropped — five by ABC, four by NBC and three by CBS.

In announcing its mid-season changes, ABC said it's putting five new series, a Monday night movie program and an eight-part dramatization of Irwin Shaw's novel, "Rich Man, Poor Man" on the air this winter.

Although Cosell is leaving, ABC is trying again with a new variety show, this one on Friday nights with the singing Osmond family.

It's also installing a new situation comedy, "Laverne and Shirley," a nostalgia spin-off from "Happy Days." Another spin-off is "The Bionic Woman" series, which began on "The Six Million Dollar Man."

"Almost Anything Goes," a series of outlandish amateur sports events which ABC tried out this summer, is returning this winter as the replacement for Cosell's Saturday night variety attempt.

CONN B flat trumpet, like new 474-8008.

WINTER piano, needs minor repair. $100.00. Call 983-4437.

And there'll be yet another cop series, "Superstar." It stars Paul Sorvino as a New York detective who moves to San Francisco. He'll be introduced in a segment of — you guessed it — "Streets of San Francisco."

Two situation comedies also will have new evenings in ABC's winter lineup. They're "On the Rocks," which is moving from Thursdays to Mondays, and "Welcome Back, Kotter," which will shift from Tuesdays to Thursdays.

Other than ABC's "Rich Man, Poor Man" programs, there appears nothing innovative in the mid-season entertainment schedules the networks have drawn up. "More of the same" seems the common theme, with the usual heavy emphasis on cops and comedy.

By my count, there'll be 21 cop or private eye shows and 23 situation comedies on tap when the mid-season starts in January. There'll also be six "action-adventure" series, plus five movie nights and five variety shows.

We'll have more on the mid-season lineup in coming editions. Until then, stay tuned for the big show ... life is but the station break.

Buffalo Bills Top Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bruising Jim Braxton did most things right and the St. Louis Cardinals most things wrong.

Not really so surprising, then, that the two elements added up to a 32-14 Buffalo Bills upset Thursday in the National Football League.

"This puts us back in the running," beamed Buffalo Coach Lou Saban after his Bills, 7-4, pulled within half a game of the front-running Miami Dolphins in the American Conference East. "It gives us impetus," Saban said. "It was our third game in 11 days. It's sure nice to get out 2-1."

Buffalo's triumph, dropping St. Louis to 8-3, came on the rampaging runs of Braxton, who scored three touchdowns and amassed a pro career rushing high of 160 yards.

But lending a more than a substantial assist to the Bills' effort was a succession of seven St. Louis turnovers, five in the closing half.

Buffalo converted the Cards' second error, a fumble by Steve Jones, into O.J. Simpson's three-yard touchdown run for a 13-7 halftime edge.

Then, with a ball-hawking secondary picking off four Jim Hart passes, the Bills turned the next four St. Louis mistakes into 19 points and a commanding 32-7 lead with 11:28 remaining.

John Leyboldt booted field goals of 30 and 33 yards. Both resulted from two other turnovers — the first Dwight Harrison's two interceptions and Don Croft's fumble recovery.

Later, as St. Louis predictably went to the air, rapidfire piracies by Harrison and Tony Greene, both deep in Cards territory, helped seal the outcome.

Braxton blasted five yards to score after Harrison's second theft, boosting Buffalo's lead to 26-7 on the fourth play of the final quarter.

Just 73 seconds later, he slammed one yard into the end zone after an interception by Greene, leaving Eddie Jones' piracy in the waning minutes the last insult to be heaped on Hart following the St. Louis quarterback's four-yard touchdown toss to Terry Metcalf.

Buffalo yielded an early touchdown when a Leyboldt field goal try was blocked by Pete Barnes, paving the way up a one-yard TD dive by Metcalf.

Braxton, however, crashed across the goal line from the one to pull the Bills within 7-6 seven minutes later. By halftime he had amassed 91 yards on 17 of his 34 carries.

Port Huron Flags Bump Generals

By The Associated Press
The Port Huron Flags bumped the Flint Generals from a three-way tie with the Saginaw Gears for first place in the International Hockey League's north division as the Flags defeated the Generals 4-3 Thursday.

The three teams entered Thursday's play tied for the division lead with 20 points each.

Vanik Plans IRS Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, says he will launch an investigation and will hold hearings in January on alleged corruption within the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

Vanik, chairman of a House subcommittee which monitors the IRS, said Thursday that he is dissatisfied with a Ford administration probe into the agency and that he doubts the Justice and Treasury Departments could objectively investigate the IRS.

Vanik will look into the suspension a year ago of a major IRS investigation into possible tax evasion by several hundred rich Americans with investments in tax-free countries such as the Bahamas, the Cayman Islands and the Netherlands Antilles.

The IRS says it stopped the investigation because IRS informants used illegal tactics to obtain information about supposedly secret accounts by the persons being investigated.

Robbery Attempt Ends In Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A robbery attempt at a north side Columbus carryout ended in death Wednesday night for the would-be robber, police said.

They said Lorenzo Cole, 24, robbed the carryout at gunpoint. As he fled down the street, police said, the store's owner, Earl Cox, chased after him with his own gun and fired twice. One of the slugs hit Cole in the back of the head, police said. He died a short time later.

Vinton County, founded in 1850, was named for Samuel F. Vinton, Whig candidate for Ohio governor in the year the county was formed.

Grand Ole Opry Notes 50th Year

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — It started with a country fiddler who boasted he could "fiddle the taters off the vine." The Grand Ole Opry is 50 years old today, a multimillion dollar business that hasn't forgotten its roots.

The fiddler was 80-year-old Uncle Jimmy Thompson and standing beside him during that first broadcast was George D. Hay, the "Solemn Old Judge" who presided over the weekly broadcasts until his death in 1968.

The Opry began on radio as the "WSM Barn Dance," named for the Nashville station over which it was aired.

The program followed "The Music Appreciation Hour" on Saturday nights and one night, Hay announced, "For the past hour we have been listening to music taken largely from grand opera, but now we will present the Grand Ole Opry."

The Grand Ole Opry was born. Over the years, on radio and television, its hundreds of thousands of followers made Nashville the country music capital of the world.

In the early years, the Opry featured such performers as harmonica player Deford Bailey, one of the first black country music performers, and Uncle Dave Macon, who joined the Opry in 1926 and remained a headliner for years.

In July, 1939, the Opry outgrew its studio facilities and moved to the War Memorial Auditorium, and four years later it moved to Nashville's Ryman Auditorium.

Although the floor was covered with sawdust and the splintery pews were crude, there soon were lines reaching several blocks before each performance as people queued up for the 3,000 seats inside.

In the late 1930's, the Opry began adding singers, such as Roy Acuff, now generally regarded as the "King of Country Music."

A short time later, an instrumentalist in the band of Pee Wee King and his Golden West Cowboys stepped forward to sing. That was the start for Eddy Arnold and his Tennessee Playboys. He was followed by Red Foley, Ernest Tubbs, Cowboy Copas and Hank Williams.

In 1971, construction began on a $15-million facility to house the Opry, along with a $28-million family entertainment center, Opryland U.S.A.

The Opry's first performance in its new home was on March 16, 1974. Richard Nixon, then President, was on hand, trying unsuccessfully to play with the yo-yo that Acuff uses as a stage prop.

Despite the air conditioning and cushioned seats, there are reminders of the old days at Ryman Auditorium. The performers still stand before a red barn backdrop, and inserted in the center of the new stage is a six-foot disc of oak flooring cut from the old state Ryman Auditorium.

Holiday Accidents Investigated

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three mid-week holiday accidents injuring four persons.

Thirty-year-old Donald R. Moore, 718 S. Court St., was cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance, when he drove his bus into the back of a car driven by Brenda K. Neff, 28, 8250 Stout Road, 7:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Ms. Neff, traveling north on County Road 511, was attempting to make a left turn into a private driveway when Moore failed to observe the Neff vehicle, striking it in the rear.

No injuries were reported.

Three Ashville teenagers were treated and released at Berger Hospital for minor injuries they sustained in a single-car accident, 8:05 p.m. Wednesday.

According to the report taken by Deputy James Fite, Jerry R. Pennington, 16, Ashville, was southbound on Kingston Pike attempting to make a curve when he lost control of his auto.

Traveling off the right side of the road, Pennington's auto struck a guard rail, a fence and continued into Scippo Creek.

Pennington, Ellen Rayburn, 14, and Dale E. Costlow, 15, both of Ashville, were treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries.

Deputy Fite cited Pennington for reckless operation.

Twenty-two-year-old Richard E. Olney Jr., Route 1, Stoutsville, was cited by Deputy Tim Hasselbring, for driving while intoxicated when he was involved in a single-car accident, 7:40 p.m. Thursday.

Northbound on Kingston Pike, Olney lost control of his auto, traveled off the west side of the road and struck a utility pole.

One of the two electrical wires snapped with a second wire causing a fire to the pole.

Grain, Meat Producers Council Meets

The Grain and Meat Producers Farm Bureau Council met Nov. 22 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walker.

Ten members answered roll call and minutes were read and approved. Vice-president Don Martin conducted the business meeting.

It was announced that the Women's Committee Christmas Party would be held at Wardells Party Home Dec. 4 at noon. The group is planning on attending the Christmas Party at the Christopher Inn, Columbus, on Dec. 12.

Joyce Martin presented The Spirit of '76 Expansion.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Azbell, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. David Petty, Lee and Kara, David and Julie Walker.

The Jan. 24 meeting will be held in the Petty home.

Jury Finds Man Guilty

After a short deliberation Wednesday afternoon, a jury of 12 in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court found R. Kent Shelton guilty of two charges.

The jury was seated Monday to hear evidence that Shelton had entered upon the lands leased by Bonnie Hildenbrand and took a Farmall 1066 tractor which belonged to her son, Michael Hildenbrand.

After receiving the jury's verdict, Judge William Ammer sentenced Shelton to two consecutive terms of two to five years at the Ohio Penitentiary.

The local sheriff's department headed up the investigation against Shelton.

Judge To Decide On Attorney Fees

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A federal judge here is being asked to decide who is responsible for $60,000 in attorney fees incurred in a suit brought against the Indiana State Police.

State Police Superintendent Robert DeBard was the only person named in the suit.

U.S. District Court Judge Cale J. Holder will rule whether DeBard can be held personally responsible for the costs. The state police have subsequently modified their admission tests and have conducted recruiting campaigns among Indiana's minorities.

Job Club Proves Hugely Successful

ANNA, Ill. (AP) — Ninety per cent of the unemployed persons who joined a job club here were working within two months. The social researcher who organized the club says he applied behavior-modification techniques to the task of job hunting.

Dr. N.H. Azrin, a psychologist and learning specialist at Anna State Mental Health Center, spent four years developing the job club idea.

He gathered 120 jobless persons from the Carbondale area, 15 miles north of Anna in southern Illinois, and divided them into two closely matched groups. Sixty were directed to look for work in the usual manner — individually — while the others enrolled in a job club.

Club members gathered daily in a small office for counseling in job-hunting techniques. They swapped leads, helped one another compile resumes and measured progress toward finding work against each other.

They also engaged in role playing, a psychological game-situation where they took turns playing employer and job seeker in mock interviews.

Azrin is recognized nationally for his work in behavior modification, altering behavior patterns through reward, punishment or other motivating factors.

"I applied that general type of approach to the problem of job finding," said Azrin. "It is not only a matter of learning what to do. Motivation is an important part of it. I created a situation in which job seekers worked together to find a job and I used social contact to provide the motivation."

The Carbondale area is job-scarce, largely rural and has little industry. Nonetheless, 90 per cent of the club members had jobs within two months and all who attended regularly were working, Azrin said.

In the other group, those left on their own, only 55 per cent found work, he said.

Of the job club people, 55 per cent got skilled or semiskilled jobs, Azrin reported. Twenty per cent found professional jobs and 20 per cent ended up in unskilled jobs.

Of those in the other group who found jobs, 60 per cent got unskilled work. Only 5 per cent secured professional jobs and 35 per cent landed skilled or semiskilled positions.

"The average starting salary was about a third higher for the counseled job seekers," Azrin said. On the average, he said, it took job club members two weeks to secure employment. The average for nonmembers was two months.

The club is still operating and Azrin said the U.S. Department of Labor has asked him to submit a report for study.

The job-club idea could work elsewhere, according to Azrin. "All of the indicators that I see show it would work more successfully in an urban center," he said.

Bodies Of Men Found By Police

STURGIS, Ky. (AP) — The bodies of two Evansville, Ind. men have been found at the bottom of a small embankment near Sturgis in western Kentucky.

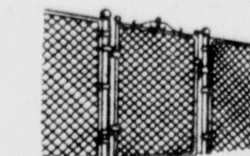

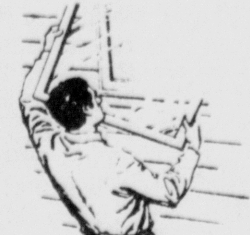

Indiana and Kentucky state police Thursday night discovered the bodies of Ronald Russell, 43, and Charles Pettit, 32, near Kentucky state road 109, authorities said. A search was mounted Thursday after a 22-year-old Evansville woman told police she witnessed the murder of the pair.

The woman also said she was kidnapped and raped by two of the killers. She later identified two men who were taken into custody following a high-speed chase. A search is continuing for two other suspects, police said.
